Attendance				No

After testing, our project meets the requirements of most customers, and all the functions that have been made can basically run normally, and the unrealized function of forgetting password and attendance function will also be completed in the subsequent development.

Defect Testing

After the test of the current version, our project currently has two serious problems.

First, when users log in with an administrator account and modify the information of students or teachers, there will occasionally be a situation where deleting a person's information cannot be deleted. We speculate that this is related to the contents of the database and that further changes are needed.

Second, when the user registers a new account in the login interface, they cannot log in immediately. To take effect, you need to refresh the project and database. I surmise that this has to do with the linking of databases, and we plan to try to solve this problem with better cloud databases.
